A new United Nations report has criticized the government of the Philippines for continuing to allow illegal mining and logging in its exclusive economic zone (EEZ). The UN report also accuses the government of contributing to the loss of billions of pesos in foreign exchange reserves due to a lack of transparency in its economy. “It is a matter of great concern that three years after the Commission on Human Rights’ 2013 resolution urging the Philippine government to initiate a program to address the illegal and unregulated timber trade within the country’s EEZ, the government still has yet to formulate a concrete plan,” the UN report said. ADVERTISEMENT “It is only at the end of 2017 that the National Police are now contemplating an amendment to the country’s environmental laws,” the report added. The first phase of the report, which was made available to the media on Thursday, noted that in 2014, the Philippine government agreed to a “roadmap” to address illegal and unregulated logging within its EEZ. The second phase is currently being made available to the public, said the report. Under the Philippine Forest Act of 1988, the government has the “inherent power to prevent the destruction and exploitation of the country’s natural resources,” but the act has no enforcement mechanisms and it was amended in 2016 in the interest of companies. “Among the amendments were 82157476af
